

Azuma Foods International Inc., U.S.A.

20201 Mack Street, Hayward, CA 94545

Product Manager

Organize, conduct, and implement new Japanese food product development process such that new products are efficiently and effectively launched into the market place. Meet with customer to discuss needs and develop new product and packaging concepts together with R&D Division. Monitor and control the cost position for each product line and further develop specific product line that generates good sales response. Review analysis on competitors' products and set adequate pricing strategy and focuses on solidifying gross margin. Work cross-functionally to execute product development plans. Responsible for project timelines (including Packaging) and keeping the process moving, ensuring all key milestones are met. Source raw ingredient and manufacturing suppliers. Negotiate costs based on knowledge of production processes and raw materials. Manage the development of new products, ensuring compliance with all testing requirements needed as set by Regulatory and Quality Assurance.

Minimum requirement: Bachelor's degree in Business Admin or Law or Management or equiv. plus 2 years of experience in job offer or as Assistant Product Development Manager in Japanese specialty food.

Jobsite: 20201 Mack Street, Hayward, CA 94545

Apply to: HR Department, Azuma Foods Int'l Inc., USA, 20201 Mack Street, Hayward, CA 94545 or email to: HR@AzumaFoods.com.